FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Southern California University of Health Sciences Shows Support to F4CP

CARMICHAEL, Calif. – January 9, 2013 --The Foundation for Chiropractic Progress (F4CP), a not-for-profit organization dedicated to raising awareness about the value of chiropractic care, is pleased to share that Southern California University of Health Sciences (SCU), an institution known for its integrated education and prestigious clinical training, has contributed an additional $10,000 to the F4CP -- accumulating an outstanding total donation of $50,400. This fiscal contribution will help facilitate new campaign materials that aim to bring public attention to the evidence-based, conservative approach of chiropractic care.

“The F4CP campaign has been tremendously effective in engaging the public to learn more about chiropractic care,” shares Dr. John Scaringe, president, SCU. “SCU is privileged to give back to such an impactful organization, which shares the same passion of advancing the understanding and credibility of chiropractic as a healthcare approach.”

For over 100 years, SCU has been a leader in educating students to be competent and caring integrative healthcare practitioners. SCU has a history of providing the highest levels of patient care and has gained a reputation for excellence in an evidenced-informed curriculum. SCU is among the top institutions to prepare for a successful and rewarding career in complementary and integrative healthcare.

Kent S. Greenawalt, chairman, F4CP, is pleased to witness the continued support of F4CP sponsors, such as SCU. He shares, “It is our mission to educate the public about the value of chiropractic care. Thanks to loyal contributors similar to SCU, our campaign continues to thrive – and present new opportunities for advancement of the chiropractic profession.”
