FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE*Foundation for Chiropractic Progress (F4CP) Spokesperson Retired Brig. Gen. Rebecca Halstead and Retired Staff Sgt. Shilo A. Harris to Headline Parker Seminars 2015

CARMICHAEL, Calif. – January 23, 2014 -- The Foundation for Chiropractic Progress (F4CP), a not-for-profit organization dedicated to raising awareness about the value of chiropractic care, will co-sponsor its spokesperson retired Brig. Gen. Rebecca Halstead as a keynote speaker at Parker Seminars, January 29-31, 2015, Las Vegas, Nevada. On January 29, 2015, 1:30-2:30 p.m., Halstead will lead the session, “Turn it Up and Make a Difference,” around the value of chiropractic care for active-duty military personnel and veterans, as well as the need for improved accessibility. The session will include retired Staff Sgt. Shilo Harris, national spokesperson for The Patriot Project, as a featured guest.

“While in service, both Sgt. Harris and I endured hardship and found improved health with chiropractic care,” states Halstead, who is a graduate of West Point and recognized as the first female in U.S. history to command in combat at the strategic level in Iraq. “Its drug-free, hands-on approach has a record of high patient satisfaction and offers effective treatment for a wide-range of conditions often experienced by our nation’s heroes. By sharing our stories, we can help to provide our military colleagues with the care they need and deserve, at the time and place they need it.”

Halstead and Harris are published authors and inspirational speakers, who both emphasize the importance of chiropractic care for service members. Halstead served in the U.S. Army for 27 years, at which point chronic fibromyalgia forced her into retirement, while Harris, who also served in the U.S. Army, entered retirement after his vehicle was struck by an IED causing catastrophic injuries.

Enthusiastic about Halstead and Harris’ presentation at Parker Seminars, Kent S. Greenawalt, chairman, F4CP, states, “I expect the session will resonate deeply with the chiropractic audience and, with their full attention and participation, result in thoughtful discussion and collaborative opportunities that help to drive positive change in this space.”
